

Your Agency Responsibilities

Your agency will be asked to cover expenses such as travel and meals and lodging, if needed. There is no charge for the services of the team.

Your agency should request attendance at the intervention by all personnel from emergency or healthcare organizations who were involved in the incident, however attendance should not be mandatory. Provide a comfortable space that is free from interruption and is large enough to accommodate personnel and team members. Educational programs and debriefings are also available for spouses and significant others.

In Conclusion

The crisis support process is available to any emergency service organization or hospital. All information discussed during interventions is restricted and will not be discussed with those not at the session. Only general information regarding the team functions and response process will be released.
